

Warner Summers

Atlanta architectural firm Warner Summers chose CA3 Construction early-on in their conversion of a 1950s-era warehouse into their new office. This LEED project included redesigned building elevations which involved carefully punching new storefront windows in the original brick façade. Among the other LEED items utilized were a new roof system, high-efficiency HVAC and plumbing systems, high-performance glazing, sustainable millwork materials, and low-VOC paints.

